

BOXERMAN & SCHWERIN TO PRESENT AT 2018 MIDWEST ACCOUNTING & FINANCE BLOCKCHAIN CONFERENCE

Posted on September 13, 2018 by Sanford J. Boxerman

Category: Presentations

Tags: Michelle Schwerin, Sandy Boxerman

On Thursday, September 27, 2018, Michelle F. Schwerin and Sanford J. Boxerman will present at the Midwest Accounting and Finance Blockchain Conference. This 8-hour event, presented by The Missouri Society of CPAs, will provide attendees with the foundation of blockchain technology, essential knowledge, and explore the rich applications and use for accounting, controller, legal, and advisory services professionals. Michelle and Sandy will present a session entitled, "Legal Implications of Blockchain Systems Adoption."

Legal Implications of Blockchain Systems Adoption

This panel will address current legal issues concerning virtual currency and blockchain technology systems, which accountants might face in their own practices as well as in addressing their clients' activities. Specifically, we will discuss regulatory developments in tax, securities, and other investment and functional business operations fields. We will also address current case law and how these developments might affect the advice and services offered to clients.

For additional information about The Midwest Accounting and Finance Blockchain Conference, please visit the event registration site.

Missouri Society of Certified Public Accountants

The Missouri Society of Certified Public Accountants (MOCPA) is the premier professional development organization dedicated to CPAs in Missouri, representing more than 8,000 members in public practice, industry, government, and education.

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.