Capes Sokol was proud to be a supporting sponsor of the Arts and Education Council’s Young Friends of the Arts 2019 “A Midsummer Night's Drink”, a rooftop party that celebrates the St. Louis arts and creative community. The annual event was held at the Centene Center for the Arts in the Grand Center Arts District on August 2, 2019.

Alexandra W. Schenk, Capes Sokol’s Marketing Manager, was the Chair of the event. An active member of the arts community, she was recently elected Vice President of the Young Friends Board of the Arts and Education Council.

Arts and Education Council

“A Midsummer Night's Drink” is the signature fundraising event of the Arts and Education Council's Young Friends of the Arts. Proceeds benefit the Arts and Education Council, the St. Louis region's only united arts fund supported by private contributions from individuals, corporations, foundations, and institutions committed to the value and benefit of the arts to the community. The Arts and Education Council ensures the 16-county, bi-state region is rich with arts and cultural experiences through programs and services, and supports more than 70 organizations each year
