NEILL & SCHWERIN TO PRESENT ON EMPLOYMENT TAX FOR MISSOURI BAR WEBINAR

Posted on March 14, 2019 by Sara G. Neill

Category: Presentations
Tags: Michelle Schwerin, Sara Neill

On April 9, 2019, Sara G. Neill and Michelle F. Schwerin will present a Missouri Bar webinar entitled "Employment Tax: Your Client's Legal Obligations and the Risks of Noncompliance." The webinar will address employment tax-related obligations of clients and provide strategies to identify and resolve employment tax-related issues.

Employment Tax: Your Client's Legal Obligations and the Risks of Noncompliance

Discussion Topics Include:

- An employer's employment tax-related legal obligations including properly distinguishing between employees and independent contractors, recordkeeping requirements, and tax filing, withholding and remitting;
- The risks of noncompliance, including significant civil penalties to the employer and its owners and officers and criminal prosecution;
- The Internal Revenue Service and Department of Justice's recent initiatives to reduce the employment tax gap; and

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.

- Strategies in representing noncompliant employers both before and after the government shows up.

For more information, visit: 2019 Employment Tax: Your Client's Legal Obligations & the Risks of Noncompliance

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.