

NEILL TO PRESENT AT CRIMINAL TAX DAY 2021

Posted on May 28, 2021 by Sara G. Neill

Category: Presentations

Tag: Sara Neill

On Friday, June 4th, 2021, Sara G. Neill, shareholder and Chair of Capes Sokol's Tax Controversy and Litigation Practice Group, will participate as a panelist in a webinar entitled, "Non-Filers." The webinar is a part of Criminal Tax Day 2021, a 1-day virtual event for tax professionals who want to learn about important developments in criminal tax. Sara will be joined by Bryan Skarlatos of Kostelanetz & Fink, LLP and Hank Kea, Director, Field Collections Operations, Small Business/Self-Employed Division, Internal Revenue Service.

Non-Filers

Presentation Description:

In May 2020 the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration issued a report criticizing the IRS for knowing about over 10 million non-filers, many of whom are high-income earners, and not pursuing them. The IRS assured us that, no, they have a program and are pursuing them. So, a year later where is the IRS regarding its non-filer program? Join our experts and hear what the IRS is doing to bring non-filers into the system and when does a taxpayer's failure to comply make up criminal behavior.

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.